

Psalm 148

Praise Him in High Places

B.T. © GNU 1993

Music: 'Mr. George Whitehead His Allemande', by John Dowland. Perform briskly, spritely and very rhythmically. This is a dance not a stodgy piece of hymnody ! Use bars 5-8 as an introduction, as an interlude between the verses and as a postlude.

1

1. Praise him in high pla - ces. (O) Praise God in the hea - vens.
Sun and moon, O praise him. (O) Praise him from the hea - vens.

2. Hills and moun - tains, praise him: (O) fruit trees and tall ce - dars,
Kings of all the na - tions, (O) chief - tains, ru - lers, prin - ces,

5

An - gels praise him, heaven - ly hosts, stars and con - stell -
By God's word all things were made: they shall sing his birds and beasts and creep - ing things join to sing his chil - dren, mai - dens, youths, sing praise: young and old ex -

8

a - tions.
prai - ses. God has e - sta - blished all his migh - ty works for prai - ses.
alt name. All things shall praise him, for his name is high, ex -

12

e - ver. He has de - ter - mined all their bounds and li - mi - alt - ed. Great is his glo - ry; ma - jes - ty and power are ta - tions. So all on earth come sing his praise: all his a - lone: And he shall give his peo - ple power, so, seas and mon - sters of the deep, fire, hail, snow, frost and all his ser - vants, praise - him! Let every thing that has stor - my winds shall all ful - fil the Lord's com - mand.

16

19

22

breath sing praise! To him be glo - ry e - ver more.